HARRISBURG, Aug. 9.—New tax legislation joined scores of other measures in the scrap heap today and the legislature cast covetous glances at the motor license fund.

The present extraordinary session of the General Assembly will not saddle Pennsylvania taxpayers with any additional burdens.

Representative Philip Sterling, Philadelphia, chairman of the House ways and means committee, made this announcement early today after a meeting of the committee held while the House was still in session.

Crush Income Tax Plan
The lower branch crushed income tax legislation by a vote of 117 to 66 after the Memo occupations tax bill was sent scurrying for cover. The vote to recommit the latter measure was 100 to 76. The committee in its session virtually doomed all other tax bills in its possession.

Those measures included levies on cigarettes, cosmetics and soft drinks, as well as the legislation sponsored by Representative Chester Rhodes, Monroe, providing for the collection of mercantile and inheritance taxes by the Department of Revenue and withdrawal from the auditor general of the power of appointing mercantile appraisers. The general sales tax bill apparently was smothered in like fashion.

The House committee on appropriations at the night session reported the Wilkin-Blumberg bill, transferring $12,000,000 from the motor license fund to the general fund for the purpose of meeting the appropriation in the Talbot emergency relief bill.

On Second Reading Today

A long debate and series of interpellations preceded action in the income tax measure. Just prior to that a half dozen members rose to "a question of personal privilege" and denounced new taxes in general. These speakers included Rep.

OPPOSES ATTEMPT TO USE HIGHWAY FUNDS FOR DOLE

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Aug. 9.—Asserting that "highway funds are already used for relief," Gov. Gifford Pinchot today condemned the move of the Philadelphia delegation in the House to take $12,000,000 from the motor license fund and use it for dole payments.

After all tax proposals were rejected last night, at least temporarily, members of the Philadelphia delegation introduced and had passed on first reading a bill which would take $12,000,000 from road building funds for distribution to the jobsless. The move was considered the "last stand" of the big city delegations in their varied attempts to find state funds for aiding the jobsless.

Even without the governor's blast against the proposal, the move was believed to be headed for defeat. Members of the rural bloc in the House say they have enough votes to send the bill to the committee on Four persons are in the county jail pending a hearing at two o'clock Wednesday before Alderman William E. Marshall on charges of manufacturing and possessing liquor, the result of what is said to have been probably one of the biggest raids staged in Lawrence county since passage of the 18th amendment.

The persons against whom the charges have been filed and who will be granted a hearing Wednesday, gave their names as follows: Fred Lombardo, Gardner Stop, Shenango township.

Julia Nocera, 102 Maitland street, New Castle.

Amelia Lombardo, Gardner Stop, Shenango township.

Ralph Olive, Gardner Stop, Shenango township.

The raid was headed by Constable James Ellison, first ward, New Castle. He was assisted by Constable Thomas Raymond, Tailey, Wampum, and Deputy Constable Andrew Fair, first ward, New Castle. It occurred at four p. m. Monday.

What Officers Found
According to Constable Ellison, the officers found:

Eight barrels of whisky.
A quantity of homebrew in quart bottles.

A quantity of whisky which contained cherries.

A 100-gallon still. It was operating at the time of the raid, as also was another 50-gallon still. The mash was being prepared for a "second running," the constable alleged.

A gasoline tank or "stove" which furnished the heat.

The constable said the place was equipped with a water system which aided in the manufacture of the liquor. It was also in operation, he said.

As yet Ellison does not know who

Track Is Removed
But Car Doesn't Stop

Incident to the work of improving the highway from the end of Highland avenue at the city limits, north to New Wilmington, a stretch of about 200 feet of track at the end of the street car line was removed yesterday. This was done so the highway can more easily be improved from the city line.

But, the fact that the track was lifted couldn't so easily overcome the habits of motormen on the car line, who for years have been operating cars the 200 feet out into the township.

After several successful trips this morning, habit got the better of one of the motormen, and he was continuing the trip to the former end of the line, regardless of track changes.

The car sailed on about ten or twelve feet past the end of the rails and then came to a stop.

It required a couple of additional cars to haul it back onto the rails, but no damage was done.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 9.—The government of China was thrown into turmoil today by the resignation of the entire cabinet headed by Premier Wang Ching-wei.

Marshall Chang Hsueh-lian, former war-lord of Manchuria and during the last year commander of the Peiping and North China area, also resigned, leaving former president Chiang Kai-shek virtual dictator.

T. V. Soong, finance minister, was the first to submit his resignation after Wang Ching-wei and Chang Hsueh-lian quit their posts. The remaining nine cabinet officers immediately followed suit, including Linson, president of the Executive Yuan.

The resignations left the country with no executive body, and the populace turned to General Chiang Kai-shek, China's foremost military leader, to lead the country out of chaos.

HARRISBURG, Aug. 9.—Appearing personally before the Senate, Gov. Gifford Pinchot tonight will demand that body to continue its probe into alleged illegal relations between the Public Service Commission and some utilities in the state.

The governor today announced his intention of asking such a probe at the current special session rather than to permit it to go over until the assembly convenes again next January. The formal request asking permission to appear will be laid before the Senate immediately after it convenes tonight and will be granted at once.

Regarding the nature of the additional charges which he will make against the commission the governor maintained silence. He said that "there would be plenty of time" to make them after they have been formally laid before the Senate.

Meanwhile, the scope of the governor's charges remained a matter for conjecture. Should he demand a probe into the P. R. T. rate increases and the various factors bearing upon them, months would be required to delve into them.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—Having demanded that Bolivia lay down its arms in the Gran Chaco dispute with Paraguay, the neutral commission today was awaiting reply preparatory to addressing a note to the other country in the South American dispute.

The Bolivian note drafted by delegates from Mexico, Cuba and Colombia, and Francis White assistant secretary of state asks Bolivia to cease hostilities in the disputed region, under an armistice based on the territorial position of troops in the Chaco, as of June 1, 1932. That dismal look on my old friend's pan, isn't caused by domestic woe, it isn't caused by the weather's pranks, the reason for it I know. And the reason is this, if you want to know, and you do, so I seem to ween, it's caused by the showing the Pirates have made, his favorite baseball team. When they played like stars he was all agog, and he rooted them wide and high, but now he's down in the dismal dumps, for the pennant seems passing by. HITLER DEMANDS POST OF CHANCELLOR

Hitler Refuses To Take Post Of Vice-Chancellor

"I Shall Be Chancellor Or Nothing," Says Fiery German Socialist

VON PAPEN STILL HOLDS TO POWER
Reign Of Terror Continues Unabated In Various Sections Of Germany

By EDWARD L. DEUSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, Aug. 9.—"I shall be chancellor or nothing," said Adolf Hitler, militant leader of Germany's National Socialists, to Lieutenant General Kurt von Schleicher, minister of defense and leading figure in the cabinet of Chancellor Franz von Papen.

Hitler and von Schleicher met in secret at a rendezvous near Dresden. The Nazi chief, who last week was offered and turned down the post of vice-chancellor, told von Schleicher that unless the parliamentary gains of his party were recognized by his elevation to the chancellorship, he would not permit any of his followers to participate in Germany's new cabinet.

Hitler's demand threw the task of forming a new ministry into turmoil. An official announcement declared President von Hindenburg would receive Chancellor von Papen in private at the presidential palace tomorrow, indicating that the chief executive was still clinging to von Papen and entrusting him with a free hand in attempting to reorganize the cabinet.

Hitler Threatened.
Rumors of an attempt upon the life of Hitler caused a furore on the stock market. They could not be confirmed.

Meanwhile, the government completed the text of the emergency decree aimed at ending the reign of terrorism. It will be submitted to President von Hindenburg tomorrow immediately after his arrival in Berlin from his country estate at Neudeck.

The reign of terror continued unabated. At Kuemper in Silesia, a Socialist laborer was shot and killed in the street, his assailants escaping. The home of the Polish majority leader at Markowitz was bombed, and half a dozen lesser outrages in the same vicinity were reported.

eree Kommjari. They were Capt. C. Branco, goal-keeper A. Serpa, and L. Da Silva.

Kommjari called frequent fouls on the Brazilian team, and several times sent South American players to the sidelines for brief intervals. The knot of Brazilian athletes that clustered about him at the end of the game alarmed the thick-set Budep athletic official, and soon high-pitched Latin expletives gave way to shoves and pushes and a few ill-aimed blows.

U. S. Total Jumps
The fracas at the swimming stadium overshadowed a day of Olympic competition that saw the United States swell its unofficial point total to 423½, more than three times the Italian score of 126½. Sweden continued third with 120 followed by Finland 119; France 114; Germany 107; England 87; Canada 61; and Japan 58.

Two new Olympic champions were crowned accounting for a score of America's points. They were:

100-meter free style swimming, women, Miss Helene Madison, 1:06.8 (new Olympic record).

Men's three-meter springboard diving, "Mickey" Riley, 161.38 points.

"Nurmi Case" Argued
Behind closed doors another Olympic argument developed, but it never progressed further than the loudly argumentative stage. This came at a session of the congress of the international amateur athletic federation when in effect the "Nurmi case" was postponed for two years.

Finnish delegates brought up the question of the disbarment from the games of the mighty Paavo Nurmi, peer of all runners, during argument over an amendment to the federation by-laws which would give the council, a body of seven men, almost complete power over the amateur track and field athletes of all nations.

The amendment was approved, 13 to 12, but so close was the vote that it was decided to refer it to a commission for further study. Thus Nurmi still stands as suspended by the I. A. A. F. council and his status is indeterminate, being neither professional nor amateur.

Meanwhile the games themselves moved tranquilly forward, with boxing and rowing starting today, and gymnastics, yachting, fencing, and swimming continuing unabated.

Football Game
Fifty thousand fans last night watched a demonstration of American football. An eastern eleven of players from Princeton, Yale and Harvard, was beaten, 7 to 6, by a western eleven of players from Southern California, Stanford, and the University of California.

In boxing, American influence prevailed when the international boxing association ruled that for the first time in the history of the Olympic games the referee will be in the ring with the fighters. As a concession to modesty all contestants were required to wear shirts.

Patrick O'Callaghan withdrew as heavyweight entry of the Irish team because of a sprained hand suffered in a sparring match.

In yachting, Owen P. Churchill, young local skipper virtually cinched first place in the eight-meter class with another victory over six Ronald Waitland of Canada. Bob Mass of Holland dominated the monotype class with 48 points against 41 for Colin Patsey of England, his closest rival.

CAUGHT WITH CHICKEN AND ADMITS THEFT

John Bauer was picked up last night by the police with a chicken in his possession. He finally admitted to the police that the chicken had been stolen from his employer, C. W. Quigley of the Harlansburg road, also that he had stolen other chickens from various places. He was warned against this practice and then asked to get out in the country at his employer's. He promised to do as told and was discharged.

OPPOSES ATTEMPT TO USE HIGHWAY FUNDS FOR DOLE

highways from which it has little chance of emerging.

After pointing out a series of reasons why he believes the fund transfer to be unwise, the governor asserted:

"There is just one thing for the General Assembly to do, and that is to look the facts in the face and do the duty for which it was called together and which it has been dodging for seven weeks."

Measure Not Killed.
Harrisburg, Aug. 9.—An administration drive to send the Witkin-Blumberg bill to the morgue failed in the house today.

The measure would transfer $12,000,000 from the motor license fund to the general fund and would be used for relief purposes.

A viva voce vote, following a long debate, left no doubt that the lower branch believes it has found a way to provide funds with which to meet the appropriation in the Talbot $12,000,000 emergency relief bill.

The vote came within an hour after Gov. Gifford Pinchot had denounced the measure.

The bill was on second reading this morning when Rep. Paul Cauffiel, Cambria, moved to send it to the committee on highways. The move was tantamount to an attempt to write an obituary for the legislation. The debate followed and defeat of the motion resulted.

Immediately after Speaker Jay Goodnough announced defeat of Cauffiel's motion, the bill was passed on second reading and on motion of Rep. Morton Witkin, Philadelphia, co-sponsor of the legislation, it was made a special order of business on final passage for tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock.

Rep. Robert G. Kleckner, Lehigh, interrogated Cauffiel as soon as the latter had made his motion and in reply to a question the Cambria member said he wanted the bill re-committed to permit "further study."

Cauffiel used expressions in the governor's statement today in voicing opposition to the bill and declared the time had arrived when the house must stop "kidding" itself and provide some real relief. Cauffiel said the highway department is already offering work relief and that the new bill would not provide any additional aid.

Kleckner asserted the measure may furnish "an alibi for the governor as a convenient way of getting out from under on this elaborate 20,000-mile road program." Explaining that Governor Pinchot could say that the removal of funds from the motor fund would prohibit completion of the road program.

Bulls Retain Market Grip

Profit-Taking Losses Checked By Bulls After First 15 Minutes Of Trading

PRICES WHIRL UP SOME THREE POINTS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—The bulls retained a firm grip on the stock market today and whirled prices up from fractions to more than 3 points after profit-taking had brought losses of an equal amount in the first 15 minutes.

Wheat dropped nearly 2 cents a bushel and cotton lost $1 a bale of yesterday's rise of $5 a bale. Bonds also were irregular on profit-taking.

The stimulating influence behind the rally was the expectation of the announcement today of the plan to stabilize commodities worked out by the federal reserve authorities and the banking powers.

Turnover for the first half hour was 500,000 shares. The ticker fell three minutes behind in the first hour.

A wave of profit-taking swept the market in the first 15 minutes. After opening from a few cents to $2 a share lower, stocks doubled these losses quickly.

This was the signal for a fresh scramble to buy. Led by American Telephone, which spurred above 112 for a gain of 2 points, the whole list rebounded. Western Union jumped more than 3 points. Case Threshing wiped out a 2-point loss and chalked up a gain of nearly 3. U. S. Steel regained a 2-point decline and added a small gain.

representative William F. Stadlander, Allegheny, and Representative Bart Righetti, Lawrence.

The House, however, paused long enough to vote on a resolution of Representative Frederick Peters, Montgomery. Peters proposed that the treasury advance legislators an other $100 of the special session compensation tomorrow. The resolution was adopted.

The report on the Steedle bill was again in the hands of the conference committee today as a result of typographical errors.

Bills Passed

Passed finally by the lower branch in its night session were the following bills:

Sterling, conferring additional powers on the secretary of banking with regard to the sale or leasing of real estate in his possession.

Talbot, lapsing all unexpended and unencumbered balances of appropriations made in 1929 and prior sessions.

The House was to reconvene today at 10 o'clock. The Senate will hold its first session of the week tonight at nine o'clock.

CANDIDATE FOR VICE PRESIDENT SPEAKS IN CITY

presided at the meeting and opened the meeting with remarks concerning the purpose of the meeting and the work of the Socialist party.

James H. Maurer, noted Pennsylvania labor leader and candidate for vice-president, was called upon and made the principal address of the evening, spending much time in explaining the theories of government according to the Socialist ideal and the workings of the Reconstruction Finance corporation. Through the medium of humorous stories, well told, he dispelled any possible ideas that some might have had concerning the Socialists being desirous of confiscating individual property.

Final speaker of the evening was Sarah Linbach of Pittsburgh, state executive secretary of the Socialist party. T. H. Davies of Hubbard, O., announced a meeting in that place Wednesday evening with Jane Tate, noted Socialist speaker of Pittsburgh, as the speaker, also a picnic to be held Sunday, August 21, at Hubbard park, near Hubbard, under the auspices of the Socialists and at which affair there will be widely known speakers.

Vice Presidential Candidate Maurer left early today for Toledo, O., where he is scheduled to speak.

Mrs. Shaffer was a woman of strong personal characteristics; she was loyal to her home, her church and her community. She enjoyed a wide acquaintanceship in the city and had made and held the friendship of many during her lifetime.

Elison maintained today that the big scale operation led colleagues and he to believe that the liquor made there has been distributed on the wholesale plan. He hinted at future disclosures. For the present, he said, he would maintain secrecy.

The raid occurred at four o'clock. Entrance was gained without difficulty. Constable O'Brien plunged through a cellar window and landed in the distilling room, which was the cellar. All the people found in the house were arrested.

After they had been sent to the city a truck was secured. The stills and other materials required for

THE STOCK MARKET

THE stock market still riles men's minds in business matters with an influence for good or bad out of proportion to its real importance in the world of trade.

The stock market has done more in two weeks to lift the morale of the people from the depths of despair than all other forces combined have accomplished in three years. Whatever its course in the near future, the market has demonstrated that it can rise substantially day by day for a period of weeks, and what the stock market can do, business can do tenfold.

In fact, business is doing it. From North and South, East and West come reports of business trends that are on the upgrade. A factory reopens, another increases its force, bank failures decline. Business is getting better.

There may be temporary recessions. But better things are ahead. Uncle Sam has started on the road back to prosperity.

CHANGES IN CONGRESS

Congress has been in a state of flux for several years and is due for several more important changes next November. When the next congress convenes some of the familiar faces will be missing and new ones will have taken their places.

Senator Brookhart of Iowa, and Senator Morrison, of North Carolina, lost their seats at the spring primaries. Senator Hawes, of Missouri, will not run for re-election. And among the 17 Republican and 15 Democratic senators whose seats will be at stake in November several are far from certain of re-election.

Several members of the upper branch whose return term after term has been taken as a matter of course are said to be fighting for their seats this year. Senator Broussard, of Louisiana, is slated for the discard by "Kingfish" Long. Former Senator Heflin will probably oppose Senator Black in Alabama, and "Coley" Bleasie is after the seat of Senator Smith, of South Carolina.

Nor do senatorial crowns rest easy upon all Republican heads. Smoot, of Utah is worried. Shortridge, of California; Moses, of New Hampshire, and Bingham, of Connecticut, have far from easy sailing, and Blaine, of Wisconsin, may be swept out by a possible anti-LaFollette landslide. In Indiana, Senator Watson has good reason for not forgetting his close shave in 1926.

As for the younger senators of both parties who are coming up for re-election this year, all are unfortunate in their choice of years for the expiration of their first terms. Political weather is threatening and uncertain this year.

All of which points to a powerful lot of patching and building of political fences during the next three months.

BETTER DETOURS

As long as the ubiquitous highway detour seemed to cost the motorist nothing more tangible than time that he usually could afford, and loss of temper, which is an incident of his daily driving anyhow, inherently good-natured Americans made a joke of it. But now there should be a difference in the public reaction to the rotten roads built by that Frenchman, De Tour.

Engineers of the Pennsylvania highway department have computed the cost of detouring in gasoline consumption, wear and tear on tires, depreciation on trucks and automobiles and loss of time and find that in some cases where long detours have been maintained over long periods of time it equals the cost of the highway improvement that occasioned the detour.

Detouring isn't what it used to be. Most states now improve the detours before closing the main highway for repairs or new construction and ways and means of eliminating detours have been evolved. These things cost money but, if the high cost of detouring has not been exaggerated, the benefits that accrue therefrom are well worth it.

GOLD FLOWS BACK

An increase of more than $27,000,000 in monetary gold for the week ended August 3 is shown in the report of the Federal Reserve banks, thus ending a long period of foreign withdrawals.

With the nation's total gold holdings now at $4,000,000,000 and increasing, gloom is given another setback. When gold was being steadily withdrawn from the United States by foreign nations, business was steadily growing worse.

Now that the gold movement has been reversed too much significance cannot be attached to the new movement as a business indice.

THE NEW CABINET MEMBER

The good wishes of the entire nation go with Roy Dikeman Chapin as he assumes his new duties as secretary of commerce in the cabinet of the president. During the present times, more than many others, the commerce post has gathered a greater importance because of its relationship to the country's business, and because of this there will be few, indeed, who will not hope for a successful tenure on the part of Mr. Chapin.

His talents are already well known to the nation. He is the dark, stocky, energetic type of man. A native of Michigan, he has served with a motor car company for many years, both as president and as chairman of the board. He brings a wide business experience to his new job.

AUTUMN IS APPROACHING

The evenings are growing perceptibly shorter. Is it possible fall is approaching? No dissenters are heard, so this must be the case.

Well, fall—or autumn, as it is sometimes termed—isn't a bad season as seasons go. Indications are multiplying that this fall may be the best season of 1932.

Business appears to have touched bottom some months ago and the slow steady pull upward it undoubtedly under way. This will add materially to fall's attractions.

A month from now schools will be getting started on the new term. Vacations will be over, but not the repetitious telling of vacation stories. Everybody will be bucking down to the job with renewed zest.

The crisp air of an early autumn morning makes a man feel capable of completely vanquishing the depression single-handed. Multiplied by 120,000,000, this augurs well.

Well, come on, fall. Make good your rosy promise.

Better Than Medicine
A Man Who Shared My Loss
Though I Had No Claim On Him

By MARSHALL MASLIN

When I am weary and the species of which I am a part seems mean and selfish and unworthy of self-respect and undeserving of all salvation—sometimes I think of one man who did me a good turn when I needed it sorely.

And then it is as if a giant hand lifted me lightly out of my pessimism and set me down in a safe and quiet place.

It was a matter of money, but it was also much more than money.

He was building a home for me and I was younger than he now and knew little of the practical, legal, financial matters that have to do with that sort of thing. I was a babe in those woods and they were tall and dark around me. . . . He advised me to have a business acquaintance with the handle the insurance during construction. . . . There was a matter connected with the insurance I did not understand. . . . It seems that when you are building a house you can place a lump sum of insurance on it, for the total completed cost, or you can place it in smaller portions. . . . A third when one third is finished. . . . Another third when two-thirds of the building is finished. . . . And the last at the end.

Well, when my home was two-thirds finished, it burned, and so did a thousand others; including three houses of my friend the contractor. He was not rich and his losses were severe. Neither was I rich, but I thought my loss was completely covered by insurance. . . . And then I found that our insurance man had not yet placed the second third of the insurance on the property. I was "out" nearly $2,000, and I did not have the money. I had no home, and I owed the contractor that much for the work he had done on the second third of my structure. It meant years of saving and slowly paying.

You know what he did? He took part of the responsibility for my loss. My debt in half. Although I had no legal claim, he said he thought he was partly at fault for the failure to place that insurance. . . . He opened both his purse and his heart and gave me a glimpse of a fair generosity that is by no means as common as weeds.

I have made no return to him. Probably I shall never be able to do so. I could not make complete return, under any circumstances, because my debt is more than money and beyond payment. . . . But the memory of that man's natural goodness has been better than medicine, whenever I have doubted the decency of my race.

AUTO SPONGERS

You may not have an objection to lending your car to a friend who is a good driver.

But there are comparatively few such drivers.

Don't ask a friend to let you use his car.

He may not refuse but more than likely he will find an excuse not to. An automobile represents a big investment to most people.

There are few owners who do not worry when another takes their car.

No matter how unskillful a man is in driving he seems to think he can drive as well as the next one, and his own car better than anyone else.

He knows and you know that it matters little how well you can drive. There is a possibility of your being wrecked by the inefficient driving of some other motorists.

Borrowing a car can become a habit as well as any other kind of borrowing.

Your friends would like you better if you did not ask such a favor. Possibly you could pay for any damage you might do but this fact does not give you the right.

You are exceptional if you would want to lend your car—put yourself in the other fellow's place and don't ask to borrow his machine.

There are too many auto spongers. (Copyright, 1932, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Finally he came up with a man laying bricks, and humming a tune as he worked. "And what are you doing?" asked the contractor. The workman turned with a smile, and mopping the sweat from his brow, answered: "I'm building a great cathedral, the largest in the state."

Railroad Plea For Equality Of Opportunity Approved

Contention Of Railway Executives That Same Regulations Should Apply To All Transportation Agencies Recognized As Being Fair Demand

The statement unanimously approved by the Association of Railway Executives at its recent meeting in New York in which it was urged that the railroads be allowed equality of opportunity to compete with other agencies of transportation, has struck a responsive chord in the press.

The ST. LOUIS GLOBE-DEMOCRAT says there is "a measure of justice" in the demands of the railroads that they be given the same opportunities in managerial and operative freedom that are accorded other forms of transportation. Regulations surrounding the activities of one agency of transportation, according to The Globe-Democrat, should not be different from the regulations directing the service of the others. "If we went too far in imposing regulatory restrictions on the railroads at a time when some form of regulation was found necessary, or if need for severity has passed," declares this paper, "the regulations should be modified to fit the times and to balance lesser restrictions that have been placed upon transportation competitors of the railroads. . . . But 'equality of opportunity' should be a commanding rule of the contest. If railroads are suffering from discriminative regulations to the benefit of other transportation agencies, rail restrictions should be toned down or common restrictions toned up. One or the other. The handicaps should balance."

THE LINCOLN STATE JOURNAL says: "Possibly we have reached the point where a change of policy is indicated and where, within reasonable bounds, the rights of patrons and public always being considered, more freedom of action should be accorded those who must manage the railroads." Declaring that "no domestic problem is of greater importance to the people of the United States than the question of the future of the American railroads," the ASHEVILLE CITIZEN asserts: "Unless the railroads can make money, government ownership is only a matter of time. Under government ownership the carriers would cease to be taxpayers to cities, counties and states. It is not likely that they would help to support the Federal government; it is more probable they would become a burden upon the Federal treasury. Our experience in other matters does not suggest that government ownership would result in either a reduction in costs or in the betterment of the service rendered."

"Then how is it," asked the officer dryly, consulting the record, "that when Mr. Johnson here, prosecuting witness confronted you, you sought to conceal the fowl, it being only with difficulty that you were persuaded to divulge it?"

"Jedge," admitted Rastus promptly, "Dat's mam durn fool kindheartness again. I jes' couldn't bear to have Mr. Johnson git mad at den fer strayin'."

Shortening Of Working Day Believed To Be Best Measure To Restore U.S. Prosperity

By WILLIAM GREEN President, American Federation of Labor

No measures taken thus far have even scratched the surface of the unemployment problem. We must create millions of jobs. Shortening work hours is a first step to do it.

Work hours must be shortened on a permanent basis. During the decade from 1919 to 1929 we substituted power machinery for human labor at an unprecedented rate. Production per worker in our factories increased 50 per cent; two men in 1929 could do work which required three in 1919; we reduced the work which we produced 42 per cent more product.

The work time necessary to do the same work was shortened from 52 to 34 hours a week in those 10 years, but work hours were only shortened from 52 to 50 hours; men were laid off to eliminate the unnecessary human labor.

At the present time there is only 30 hours' work a week for each person if all who want work are employed.

Thus a development which can mean increased leisure and benefit for all has instead brought unemployment. And unemployment, reaching unprecedented proportions, has destroyed the home market on which industry depends for the sale of its product.

We cannot make permanent progress industrially until this adjustment is made. And it is essential that, in making the adjustment, workers' purchasing power shall be kept at the highest possible level. Drastic reductions in workers' incomes when hours are reduced would defeat much of the benefit of shortening the work week.

Labor wants to earn its own livelihood. It wants the jobs that would come from a shorter work week, shorter recreation and building homes for workers, government works, and the increased activity of regular production channels that would be stimulated by such undertakings.

"Two things stand out preeminent regarding this malady. First, its cause has not as yet been definitely determined. Second, its cure is based upon its early discovery. The first factor is purely of scientific concern. But the second one demands real cooperation on the individual's part."

Cancer now ranks second in the killer diseases in Pennsylvania. In 1931, 10,141 people within the Commonwealth died as the result of it. And while it is impossible definitely to estimate the needless loss of life that these fatalities represent, it is entirely likely that a fair proportion of the deaths could have been thwarted had the physician been put in touch with the case sufficiently early.

"The difficulty lies in the victim's carelessness regarding first signs. Any lump, unnatural bleeding, persistent sore, or prolonged indigestion justifies an immediate examination by a physician. While all such manifestations are not necessarily cancer, they can easily be so. It therefore pays to take no chances."

Hoover's Speech Of Acceptance Is Eagerly Awaited

Republican So-Called 'Wets' Have Given Hoover Plenty Of Advice Lately

DRY STAND WILL BE MADE KNOWN

Speech All Finished With Exception Of Thorny Subject Of Prohibition

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—President Hoover's long-awaited speech of acceptance was a completed document today save for one section—that dealing with the thorny topic of prohibition.

That section is still subject to revision, and quite probably will remain so until a short time before Mr. Hoover takes the platform to acquaint the country with the principles upon which he proposes to conduct his campaign for re-election.

Plenty Of Advice. Advice without end has been poured into Mr. Hoover's ears during the past week as to what he should and should not say concerning prohibition. The Wets want him to be dry, and between those two extremes there is another school of Republican thought that counsels a speech that will appeal to the moderates in both camps.

"The logical tack for us to take in this campaign," said one of his most trusted advisers on things political, "is to appeal to the 'reasonable Wets.' The Drys are with us anyway, if for no other reason than they have no other place to go. They can't go to the Democrats, in view of the platform and Gov. Roosevelt's espousal of outright repeal. The extreme Wets are lost to us; therefore, we should appeal to the 'Reasonable Wets' in the party, of which there are a great many more than is generally realized."

Eagerly Awaited. It is this sort of advice that Mr. Hoover has been listening to for some days and it will be surprising if it is not reflected in the speech which Mr. Hoover will deliver Thursday night before a distinguished group of Republican leaders and invited guests.

One avowed Republican Wet who has consulted with the president a number of times during the preparation of his speech told International News Service today: "I believe Mr. Hoover's statement on prohibition will be satisfactory to me, and you know my views."

Large Number Of Day Campers Are Being Accommodated Every Day

Second week of the Girl Scout camp at Camp Phillips on the Slippery Rock opened Monday, also the day camp, in which large groups of various troops will come to the camp for the day. On Monday there were twenty day campers from Troop 1. The regular camp program was followed by both the regular and the day groups.

An informal camp fire was held down along the Slippery Rock, with camp songs, chafers and many impromptu stunts.

At the camp Court of Honor, it was decided to have several hikes this week, cooking one meal away from camp on each hike. The girls are looking forward to this feature. Wednesday will be visitors night and there will be something interesting put on for the parents and others visiting the camp.

Little Tots Want To See Fire Engine, Turn In Alarm Today

Mothers Get At Seat Of Trouble When Escapade Is Reported At Home

Two little east side urchins, aged five and seven years respectively, had an irresistible impulse to see the fire engines go this morning, and after thinking the matter over for some little time, finally mustered up enough courage to turn in an alarm from box 48, at the busy corner of East Washington street and Arlington avenue.

The fire engines came all right, so did Fire Chief Stockman, and it was not long until the youthful offenders had been rounded up.

After a lecture from Fire Chief Stockman as to the danger involved in turning in a false alarm, they were turned over to their mothers, who administered a little corporal punishment at the spot where it would do the most good.

After reviewing their morning's experiences, they decided that turning in fire alarms was really a bad business, and they promise never to do it again.

New Castle Member Opposes New Taxes Being Imposed By State

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, Aug. 9.—Representative Richards made several speeches here today on the reconstruction finance corporation in refusing Pennsylvania a $10,000,000 advance for relief was expressed by many legislators at the Capitol today.

The subject provoked considerable discussion yesterday at a conference of the Wade-Sheffer rural group when several of the representatives present asserted that the R. F. C. refused a loan because Pennsylvania is not a "doubtful" state in the presidential election.

"We will turn up a Republican majority in November," said Rep. Bart Richards, Lawrence, "and that is the reason we are being pushed around, not getting any federal relief."

Richards also took an active hand on the floor of the house in the debate on income tax legislation. After Rep. Clinton Sowers completed an appeal for quick action on the measure, Richards declared he had never before seen "so elaborate a funeral before the corpse was properly embalmed."

The Lawrence member added that he wanted to be "one of the bearers," explaining that he was against any new tax "before proper economies were effected."

Bonus Baby Dies In Washington

Will Conduct Probe To Determine Whether Or Not Tear Gas Caused Death

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—Bernard E. Myers, tiny 21-week-old bonus baby, died in Gallinger Municipal hospital early today, allegedly the victim of the federal troops tear gas attack on the bonus army camp at Anacostia a week ago Thursday. His father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Myers, came here from Ephrata, near Reading, Pa.

A coroner's investigation has been ordered to determine whether the child actually died as a result of tear gas fumes.

"We found no trace of gas in the child's body," said Dr. James Kelk of the children's ward. "The baby was suffering from gastro-enteritis, a stomach disorder, when brought here. The parents claim this was caused by gas fumes when they were driven from Anacostia camp by the troops and we have therefore ordered a coroner's investigation."

Daily Digest

If they are to be made useful and helpful to the community at large, whatever is necessary to restore prosperity to the railroads should be the objective of all elements of the American people." The CINCINNATI ENQUIRER points out that "the public is vitally interested in anything the railroads can do to improve their status," because "their securities are widely held, more widely held than any other securities except those of the United States itself," and "they are still our largest industry."

Declaring that the statement of the Railway Executives "deserves sympathetic consideration," the PROVIDENCE JOURNAL suggests that "the issue is how long the present harmful state of affairs must exist before constructive solutions are reached." The Journal contends that a solution of the rail problem is vital to the general welfare, because of the basic part the railroads play in the industrial and commercial life of the nation and the importance of the relationship between rail securities and such institutions as savings banks and insurance companies, for whose investments stability and security, and a moderate but certain yield, are essential requisites.

"Up to date," states the WASHINGTON STAR, "the Federal government has done practically nothing about the regulation of the motor carriers. Yet, since 1921, the Federal and State governments, the railroads point out, have expended more than $13,000,000,000 on highway improvement—the rights of ways of these motor carriers. Today there are operated on these highways more than 23,000,000 private automobiles, 3,500,000 freight trucks and 96,000 passenger-carrying buses. The railroads have had to meet this competition at the same time they have been faced with the severe decrease in business due to the depression. They have had to curtail expenditures greatly in order to live. They must continue to curtail and to eliminate practices of rate cutting and of expensive methods of competing with each other. The rate increases allowed on a considerable number of commodities months ago by the Interstate Commerce Commission, it is disclosed, have practically been nullified through made by the roads themselves to meet competition." The Star concludes: "The statement of the railroads deserves careful consideration. They are not, as they say, seeking special favors. They are demanding fair treatment in a very difficult situation."

That "costly competition must go and regulation of highway freighters and passenger buses must come to pass," and that this "would be doing justice to all concerned," is the contention of the TROY RECORD. "If the depression has done nothing else constructive," asserts the PHILADELPHIA PUBLIC LEADER, "it has driven home to railroad managements and the public alike the need for changes which will put the railroads on an equal footing with new modes of transportation."

According to the ALTOONA MIRROR, the time has come when it is necessary to give the railroads a fair deal, while the TROY ADVERTISER comments: "If the railroads are to be hogged by all sorts of regulatory measures, they believe that their competitors should also be. It must be remembered that a railroad which transports freight on a road it has built at its own expense, and on which it pays taxes, cannot compete on a fair basis with a trucking company which operates on roads built by the people for the use of which the trucking company pays little or nothing."

THE GRAND RAPIDS HERALD expresses the opinion that no plan of consolidation "can solve the present perplexing problems of the railroads. The appeal," continues that paper, "of the Association of Railway Executives reveals the real seriousness of the situation. Either relaxation of governmental of rail lines as requested by the executives' association, or application of similar regulation to competing transportation mediums must come. It is folly to argue that the trucks should be ruled from the highways or that Uncle Sam should cease development of waterways; but, unless we are to abandon our railroads to bankruptcy, competing forms of transportation must be subject to similar control."

Farmers Keep Close Watch On Corn Crop

Constable Robert McClenahan of New Bedford reports that the farmers in that section are keeping a close watch on their corn fields, as roasting ear season arrives. Last year corn fields were devastated by marauders from Youngstown and vicinity. Farmers who have spent their time planning and cultivating corn do not propose to have it stolen this year if they can help it. In some instances dogs are tied near the fields at night to give the alarm.

ONE OF DEFENDANTS WAIVES A HEARING

Charles French, who was charged with breaking and entering and the larceny of an electrical brake control from the garage of Nick Frazzo, waived a hearing when his case was called before Alderman Mantz this morning. Hearing was held on a charge against A. C. McCoy, former owner of the garage, and for whom French now works. It was contended by the defense that McCoy had nothing to do with the case. Several legal points were raised by the attorneys, regarding the ownership of the brake control which was formerly in the McCoy shop. The case was continued for arguments on the points involved.

Edna Wallace Hopper Advises Women What Is Stylish In Fall

By EDNA WALLACE HOPPER
Noted Style and Beauty Expert,
Known as "The Perennial
Flapper."

Written expressly for International
News Service.
PARIS, Aug. 9.—A woman is as young as her clothes. I ought to know.

Joshua made the sun stand still.
I have made time stand still. And I have done it with clothes and the spirit of youth.

The greatest stimulant in the world for mental and financial depression is new clothes. It baffles me how a man or woman can work and get new ideas when they are shabby and realize it.

Need Confidence.

This is only one of my numerous annual visits to the fashion shows of Paris, and I am convinced that there never was a more ideal time for women to buck up and show men how new clothes inspire confidence.
That's what the world needs—confidence. My readers will say:

"Well, it's all very fine, Miss Hopper, to say this, but what about the bills?"

I believe in cutting out every little bit of luxury and everything unnecessary in order to put what little money there is into clothes. The moral effect of a bit of rouge and a dab of powder on a woman is remarkable.

Doesn't a man's brain change after a shave and a clean collar?

All the established Paris fashion houses which I visited as an expert for International News Service—
Patou, Paquin, Worth, Yvonne Carette and others—catch the psychological spirit of fastidiousness which makes the well-dressed woman.

Velvets Are Lovely.
One charming model I saw was a little slip-over dress with a low round neck worn with one of those dainty little peasant blouses which are all shirred in at the neck.

The new velvets are lovely. Some of the sheer wool and jersey laces are astonishing. The new coats with belts are also youthful and charming.

The huge fur collars that made women look top-heavy are past.
Neat small ones this season tend to give simplicity and naivete to the wearer.

I ordered one coat that has a fur belt with buttons the whole way down the front. It is black, with the entire top and sleeves of baby white lamb.

One of my new dresses has a black skirt with a red jersey blouse and a red bolero over it with short sleeves.
I'll freeze to death but I know I'll look smart. And what more can a woman ask?

Opinion Rendered In Insurance Case

Judge Hildebrand Grants Defendant's Motion For Judgment Notwithstanding Verdict

Reversal of a verdict was made in an opinion handed down by Judge
R. L. Hildebrand in court Monday in the case of Rosiro Nastase against The North River Insurance Company. This was a case in which a local agency wrote a policy for $1500 on personal property of Nastase in July 1928. The property, consisting of household goods was located in a house at the Johnson quarry, near Hillsville. The coverage was for this particular location, "but not elsewhere."

In October, 1929, Nastase moved to Campbell, O., where his furniture was burned in a fire on Oct. 26, 1930.
The insurance company refused to pay the claim on the grounds that the goods were insured for a particular location, and had been moved without the removal being noted on the policy.

At the trial of the case Nastase claimed that he had told the man who wrote the policy that he was going to move and supposed that was all that was necessary. This was denied by the agent.

The jury awarded Nastase $530.
Defendant then asked for a new trial and for judgment, notwithstanding the verdict. In the court's order a new trial is refused, but judgment is granted defendant, notwithstanding the verdict, and the prothonotary is directed to enter judgment in favor of the defendant and against the plaintiff.

"Then why does it rain on the

BALLADE OF THE UNWANTED BRIDGE PLAYER

I know what to do with an ace.
I know what a two-bid intends.
With all methods I've kept quite apace.
But still I am shunned by my friends.
Since on more than good-nature depends
A bridge-player's love and regards.
Who draws me in loss surely ends.
For I never hold any cards.

I sit with a smile on my face
As one who good humor pretends.
If I move to the high winner's place
My luck neither changes nor mends.
I am one who ill-fortune attends.
No fairy my lintel post guards.
To play with me none condescends.
For I never hold an, cards.

I may have of dumbness a trace.
But whose wit's so great that he lends?
My hands are reviewed with ill-
grace.
Every six-spot I put down offends.
My partner a vicious look sends.
He would stone me with flints
and with shards
Because my hand with his never blends.
For I never hold any cards!

L'Envoi
Prince, no one my falling defends.
I am shunned by my dearest of pards.
Vain the bidding the blue book com-
mends.
For I never hold any cards.

Near Tragedy In New York Subway Caused By Smoke

Two Firemen Overcome By Smoke, Several Subway Passengers Slightly Injured

WILD SCENES AS SMOKE CURLS UP

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Two firemen were overcome by smoke, several men and women were slightly injured and hundreds were frightened to the verge of panic when a fire caused by a short circuit broke out in the I. R. T. subway this morning.

Southbound trains were crowded with passengers on their way to downtown offices when smoke began filtering through the windows. Uneasiness was replaced by terror as the smoke thickened to swirl about the cars in an increasingly thick mass. Then the trains stopped and the passengers, cut off from all communication, did their best to remain calm.

Meanwhile the smoke had ascended through iron grating to the street. Police on Worth street diving the trouble put in hurried calls for fire apparatus and the sound of the sirens and fire bells heard faintly by those in the stalled subway trains only added to their fright.

Passengers Rescued
Men passengers broke down the heavy glass in the subway doors and the smoke flowed through the glass windows in alarming profusion. Cooler heads among the passengers averted a panic even when flames appeared through the smoke. Finally long seats were ripped from the cars and used as bridges to lead the passengers from the now smoke filled cars to the safety of the tunnel.

When firemen arrived they were baffled first by being unable to locate the first and then by the fact that the stalled trains prevented them from bringing in apparatus. By the time they had located the seat of the fire it had about burned itself out.

Former Resident Writes Of Hard Time In Dakota

T. E. Smith of East Washington street has received a letter from Charles Wenham, a former New Castle resident, now located at Sioux Falls, S. D., in which he asks Mr. Smith's advice on returning to New Castle.

Wenham says that the farmers have a big grain crop in his section but can't get expenses out of the grain. Oats, he says, bring nine cents a bushel at the elevators. The farmer who rents his land must pay a rental of $5 per acre. In addition he has the cost of his seed, twine for binding the grain and the cost of threshing. One of Wenham's neighbors has 6,000 bushels of oats, which he does not know what to do with, as it would not pay to truck them to the elevator.

Wenham says times are so hard there that he would like to get back to New Castle.

Caught by the undertow off State park peninsula last night, Anderson was swept beyond his depth before help could reach him. His body was recovered by life guards a half hour later.

Want Hoyland To Give Facts

Assertion In Council Needs Explanation Is Belief At City Hall

EXPENSE ACCOUNTS CAUSE STATEMENT

City Hall today continued to discuss the Monday meeting during which Councilman Albert Hoyland declared he had bills come through his office that "do not seem fair". During the meeting he was asked by Councilman Genkinger "What bills?" to which the finance superintendent replied: "They are in the records."

The situation was discussed pro and con and today several of the councilmen said it would be no more than fair to them to have Councilman Hoyland state specifically what bills he referred to. Mr. Hoyland was not at his office when a News representative visited it today. He was attending a funeral. However, a perusal of the records show that expense accounts turned in and paid by the city recently are as follows:

Members of city planning commission, convention at Johnstown, Pa., during May, expense account: Matthew Gunton, $17.63; Mrs. S. D. Pearson, $17.63; Robert Hainer, $17.63; Harry Hoskins, assistant to the city engineer, $22.08. The trip was made by automobile.

A. Reid English, sealer of weights and measures, to convention of state sealers and inspectors at Harrisburg during February, $28.74; railroad fare included.

Ed. Beadel, conference on waterways at Chicago during June, $53. At the last convention of the cities of the third class, at Bradford, the expense accounts were: Councilman Treser $21.00; Councilman Genkinger $27.25; Mayor Gillespie $15.00, assistant to the City Engineer Harry Hoskins $24.00. Mr. Genkinger used his auto.

Australian Flier Is Ready For Hop Across Atlantic

James A. Mollison Will Try For Round-Trip Flight To United States

(International News Service)
LONDON, Aug. 9.—Bound for Portmarnock, Ireland, on the first leg of an attempted round-trip air-plane flight across the Atlantic, James A. Mollison, Australian aviator, hopped off from Stag Lane Aerodrome at 5:30 p. m. today (12:30 p. m. E. D. T.).

Mollison's wife, the former Amy Johnson, started for Portmarnock in another plane a few minutes previously.

Mollison will wait at Portmarnock Beach, near Dublin, until he receives special weather reports from the air ministry before attempting the ocean flight.

The flier abandoned his radio set and special direction finding apparatus in order to conserve weight.

"I hope to be able to hop the Atlantic about 9 a. m. on Thursday," he said.

Inspector Submits Report To Council

A. Reid English, sealer of weights and inspector of measures for the city of New Castle, has submitted his July report to council. It shows that during the month past he condemned 14 portable platform scales, of which four were later adjusted. Thirty-nine were found correct. He also condemned four springs.

His report shows that he found correct seven counter scales, 31 even balance scales, five beam scales, 144 computing scales, one gasoline pump, 162 avoirdupois weights and 400 packages. It further says that three springs were adjusted and 117 packages were condemned and later adjusted.

Asked To Purchase From Local Plants

County Commissioners Wire Supt. Of Highways Regarding Stone For Two Roads

County commissioners this morning dispatched a message to Superintendent of Highways Samuel Lewis, asking that Lawrence county stone be used in surfacing the New Castle-New Wilmington and Pulaski-New Bedford roads.

The state uses either slag or crushed limestone. The slag comes from Ohio and the crushed limestone is produced in four plants in this county. The crushed limestone is a little more expensive, but is considered far superior to slag, as it is not so soft and wears longer. It will take hundreds of tons to surface the two roads, which are now being graded, and if bought in Lawrence county will give work to quite a number of men.

County Commissioner F. R. Woods sent a telegram to Lewis several days ago asking that Lawrence county cement be specified by the state for the new bridge to be built at Wurtemburg. A reply to this message was received to the effect that this could not be done. The Wurtemburg bridge is being paid for by the state.

However, it is different with the two roads now being graded. The county pays half the expense on these roads, and while the state department designates where the supplies are to be purchased, it is believed that there will be a good chance of having the contracts awarded to local industries.

Alderman Posts Bail For Hearing

Charges Are Preferred Against Alderman Marshall By State Police Officer

Alderman William E. Marshall today posted $1,500 bond for his appearance at the September term of court, after waiving a hearing before Alderman Wallace J. Ewing on two charges preferred against him by Corporal J. B. Brooks of the Pennsylvania state police.

Marshall was charged with conspiring and extortion and taking illegal fees, resulting from his alleged participation in what state authorities charge was an illegal prosecution of violators of the state's Fictitious Names act.

Corporal Brooks also placed charges against Morris A. Hecht, Pittsburgher, and Constable James Ellison recently for their alleged participation. Both are out on bond pending their trials.

Improvement In Industry Seen

Twenty Leading Industries Show Improvement, Survey Reveals

BUSINESS SHOWS SLIGHT INCREASE

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Improvement in 20 industries was reported by editors of a number of trade and industrial publications to the Associated Business Papers, Inc., which today made public the results of a survey.

Increased business was noted in numerous lines, while in others an optimistic outlook replaced the gloomier one prevailing some time ago, the editors stated.

Textiles, most packing, construction, oils, foods, and shoe and leather trades as well as others an upward trend was noted.

"The steel industry," the survey said, "remains at 16 per cent of capacity production. However, in Pittsburgh sentiment is much improved. Conditions are spotty throughout the industry, but although many companies are scraping the bottom, the feeling that the next turn will be for the better is strong."

Building trades report stated construction contracts let in 37 states in July totaled $128,678,000, or $15,000,000 more than in the previous month. However, it was pointed out work to be financed by public funds formed a large percentage of the total.

"Naturally, like every other American, I am gratified at the unmistakably better tone that now prevails in our industries and markets of trade," Chapin said.

"Concerning the future trend I will not be so bold as to venture a prediction now—but one thing is very certain we must all exert ourselves to the utmost striving to strengthen all favorable factors and to make the inevitable 'turn' come as soon as and with as much security as possible.

"The facilities of the Department of Commerce designed solely to help business should prove a potent instrument in aiding an advance along the upward road."

WHAT IS THE CHURCH?

In his Sunday services at the Mahoning Presbyterian church, Rev. D. C. Schnebly presented a discourse on "What is the Church?" which was in a way an answer to recent criticism publicly expressed here of denominationalism. Rev. Schnebly said in part:

WHAT IS THE CHURCH?

Acts 2, 41, 47
The gift of the Holy Spirit at Pentecost marks the birthday of the Christian church. The remainder of the Book of Acts gives the history of this church for one generation. In the last verses of the second chapter we see how the church grew. That first day of the church's life three thousand souls were added to the fellowship. Their Christian conduct is described in the 42nd verse. We are told that they were steadfast in teaching, in fellowship, in communion and in prayers.

The founder of the church is Jesus Christ. After Peter's confession, when he said, "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God," our Lord replied, "Blessed art thou, Simon Bar Jona; for flesh and blood hath not revealed it unto thee, but my Father which is in heaven. And I say unto thee that thou art Peter and upon this rock I will build my church; and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it." (Matt. 16: 16-18.)

The organization of the church was the act of Jesus through the Holy Spirit. When Jesus promised the disciples the gift of the Spirit, He said, "He shall receive of mine and shall show it unto you." (Jn. 16: 13, 14.)

The first thing the Holy Spirit showed unto the Apostles was the building of the church. History proves that the continuance of Christianity is dependent upon the church. The gospel would never have gotten out of Palestine had not been for the Christian brotherhood, nor out of Europe into England had it not been for the church, nor out of the old world into the new had not the church sent it. Therefore when Jesus said, "I will build my church," we realize that in a peculiar sense it is His. He is the architect. He is at work. The church is no little private enterprise of ours. It is His. We are co-laborers with Him. He is ever by our side. The gates of death shall not prevail. Critics rage and brilliant writers imagine vain things. He that sitteth in the heavens shall laugh. The Lord holds them in derision. The church is not dying. Humanity has not outgrown it. Its noon is not behind us. The best is yet to be.

Two thoughts about the church concern us especially: 1. What is the Church? and 2nd. What is it for?

What Is the Church?
It is not an asylum, nor a hospital, nor a social club. It is the Christian brotherhood; the society of Jesus. It is an organized attempt to carry out the will of Christ. The Greek word "Ecclesia" means the "called out ones" and in its classical usage designates the assembly of free citizens called together to deliberate and take action in matters pertaining to the commonwealth.

We must distinguish between Israel, God's chosen earthly nation, and the church, "the body of Christ." The church then, is a spiritual commonwealth, of which Christ is the head. The theme of the Old Testament is Israel, while the great theme of the New Testament is the church. Israel, the chosen earthly nation, began with the call of Abraham and all the rest of the Old Testament is the history of and instruction to this people, Israel. The church, the body of Christ, began at Pentecost and all the remainder of the New Testament is the history of and instruction to this body of people.

The name "church" is used in two senses in the New Testament. The one is the visible church which is composed of all persons professing to be followers of Christ. The other is the invisible church, composed only of regenerate persons united to Christ by the baptism of the Holy Spirit. The one is the church militant and the other is the church triumphant. The visible church is an organization, of many branches or denominations, but the true church (the invisible church) is an organism in which Christ is the vine and believers are the branches. Dr. C. I. Scofield says, "The predicted future of the visible church is apostasy, but for the true church, glory."

The kingdom of God and the church is confusing to many. Let us remember that the kingdom includes all true believers, that is, all regenerated souls. It is the invisible church. This is plainly taught in our Lord's parable of "the tares and the wheat."

The late Dr. Harry Swearingen, in a recent editorial contribution (April 21, 1932, to the Presbyterian Banner, said: "The church is Christ's representative on earth. It stands for His authority; it proclaims His redemption; it preserves His memorial; it is the guardian and promoter of his kingdom, and carries His cause to the ends of the earth. Membership in the church is the greatest privilege known to man. It carries with it the most solemn obligation one can assume. When one unites with the church he takes an oath, the most binding oath he will ever accept; and when he violates it, either by neglect or by willful repudiation, he incurs a responsibility to his Savior too heavy for anyone to carry on his conscience. Being of this nature, church membership is not something from which one can withdraw at his own will. The church is not a lodge or a club, or like other social organizations. It is more like citizenship in a country, only more sacred and more inviolable. Since the church is Christ's spiritual representative established by him for this purpose, a member of it cannot set himself free simply by writing to its officers asking to be released from his vows and to have his name dropped from the roll. There are ways of transferring membership, but there is no way of breaking one's solemn oath to God and to his church without certain consequences about which all of us need to be very thoughtful."

II. What is the Church For?
1. For Worship. The word means "worth-ship," and in the Christian sense it is ascribing worth or glory to God. We give God glory in song. We seek pardon, peace and power through prayer. We engage in meditation by thinking God's thoughts after Him. We worship through communion by which we enter into conscious and blessed fellowship with God. We truly worship Him by reverently waiting upon God; by confession of sin and thankful acknowledgment of His mercies. Some come into His presence in a proud and arrogant spirit and go out with a humble and a contrite heart. God is everywhere present, but He promises to meet even with two or three who meet in His name. The first great mission of the church is to provide an opportunity for devout souls to worship God.

The late Dr. W. L. Watkinson, the great English preacher, once stated: "In the establishment of one of our great goldmines is a vast iron safe with many locks, containing immense treasure. But no one person can open that chest; the keys are in the hands of many trustees, and only by their concurrence can the hidden wealth be made manifest. Thus it is in the natural and in the spiritual world, the wealth of the divine blessing can be reached only through the brotherhood of saints. 'Not forsaking the assembling of yourselves together.' There is peril in religious isolation."

2. For Witnessing. "Ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth." The cause of missions is the cause of Christ. We owe our church and our Christian civilization to our missionary ancestors. We are debtors. Our obligation to others is incalculable. To witness for Christ one must share His blessings. We must live our faith. "Let your light so shine before men that they may see your good works and glorify your Father which is in heaven." The church without zeal for missions, which does not realize that we have a story to tell to the nations, is a church without vision—and "where there is no vision the people perish."

3. For Work. In its Sabbath school and various societies the church affords training for Christian service. Religious instruction is imparted through the teaching and the preaching of the gospel. The minister's clear duty is to declare the whole counsel of God.

The church offers abundant opportunity for personal work. Every Christian should speak a good word for Jesus Christ. This is one of the phases of evangelism. The other forms of evangelism are the mass meeting, visitation and pulpit invitation at the regular services of worship.

Another form of church work is philanthropy. The church is the mother of the hospital, the asylum and the orphanage. Its members contribute to the necessity of the saints and relieve distress and extend a helping hand wherever needed. In brief, the work of the church is to do good to all men, especially to those who are of the household of faith. The keynote of the church's life is service. Probably it would do us all good to read again that chapter in "Huckleberry Finn" entitled "The Church of the Best Licks." It puts the purpose for action in the vernacular and emphasizes a real truth. For it is still important to remember that "Faith without works is dead." The same message is in the old hymn, "I Love The Church, O God," and we must be able to put our purpose in these words: For her my tears shall fall, For her my prayers ascend; To her my cares and toils be given, Till loils and cares shall end.

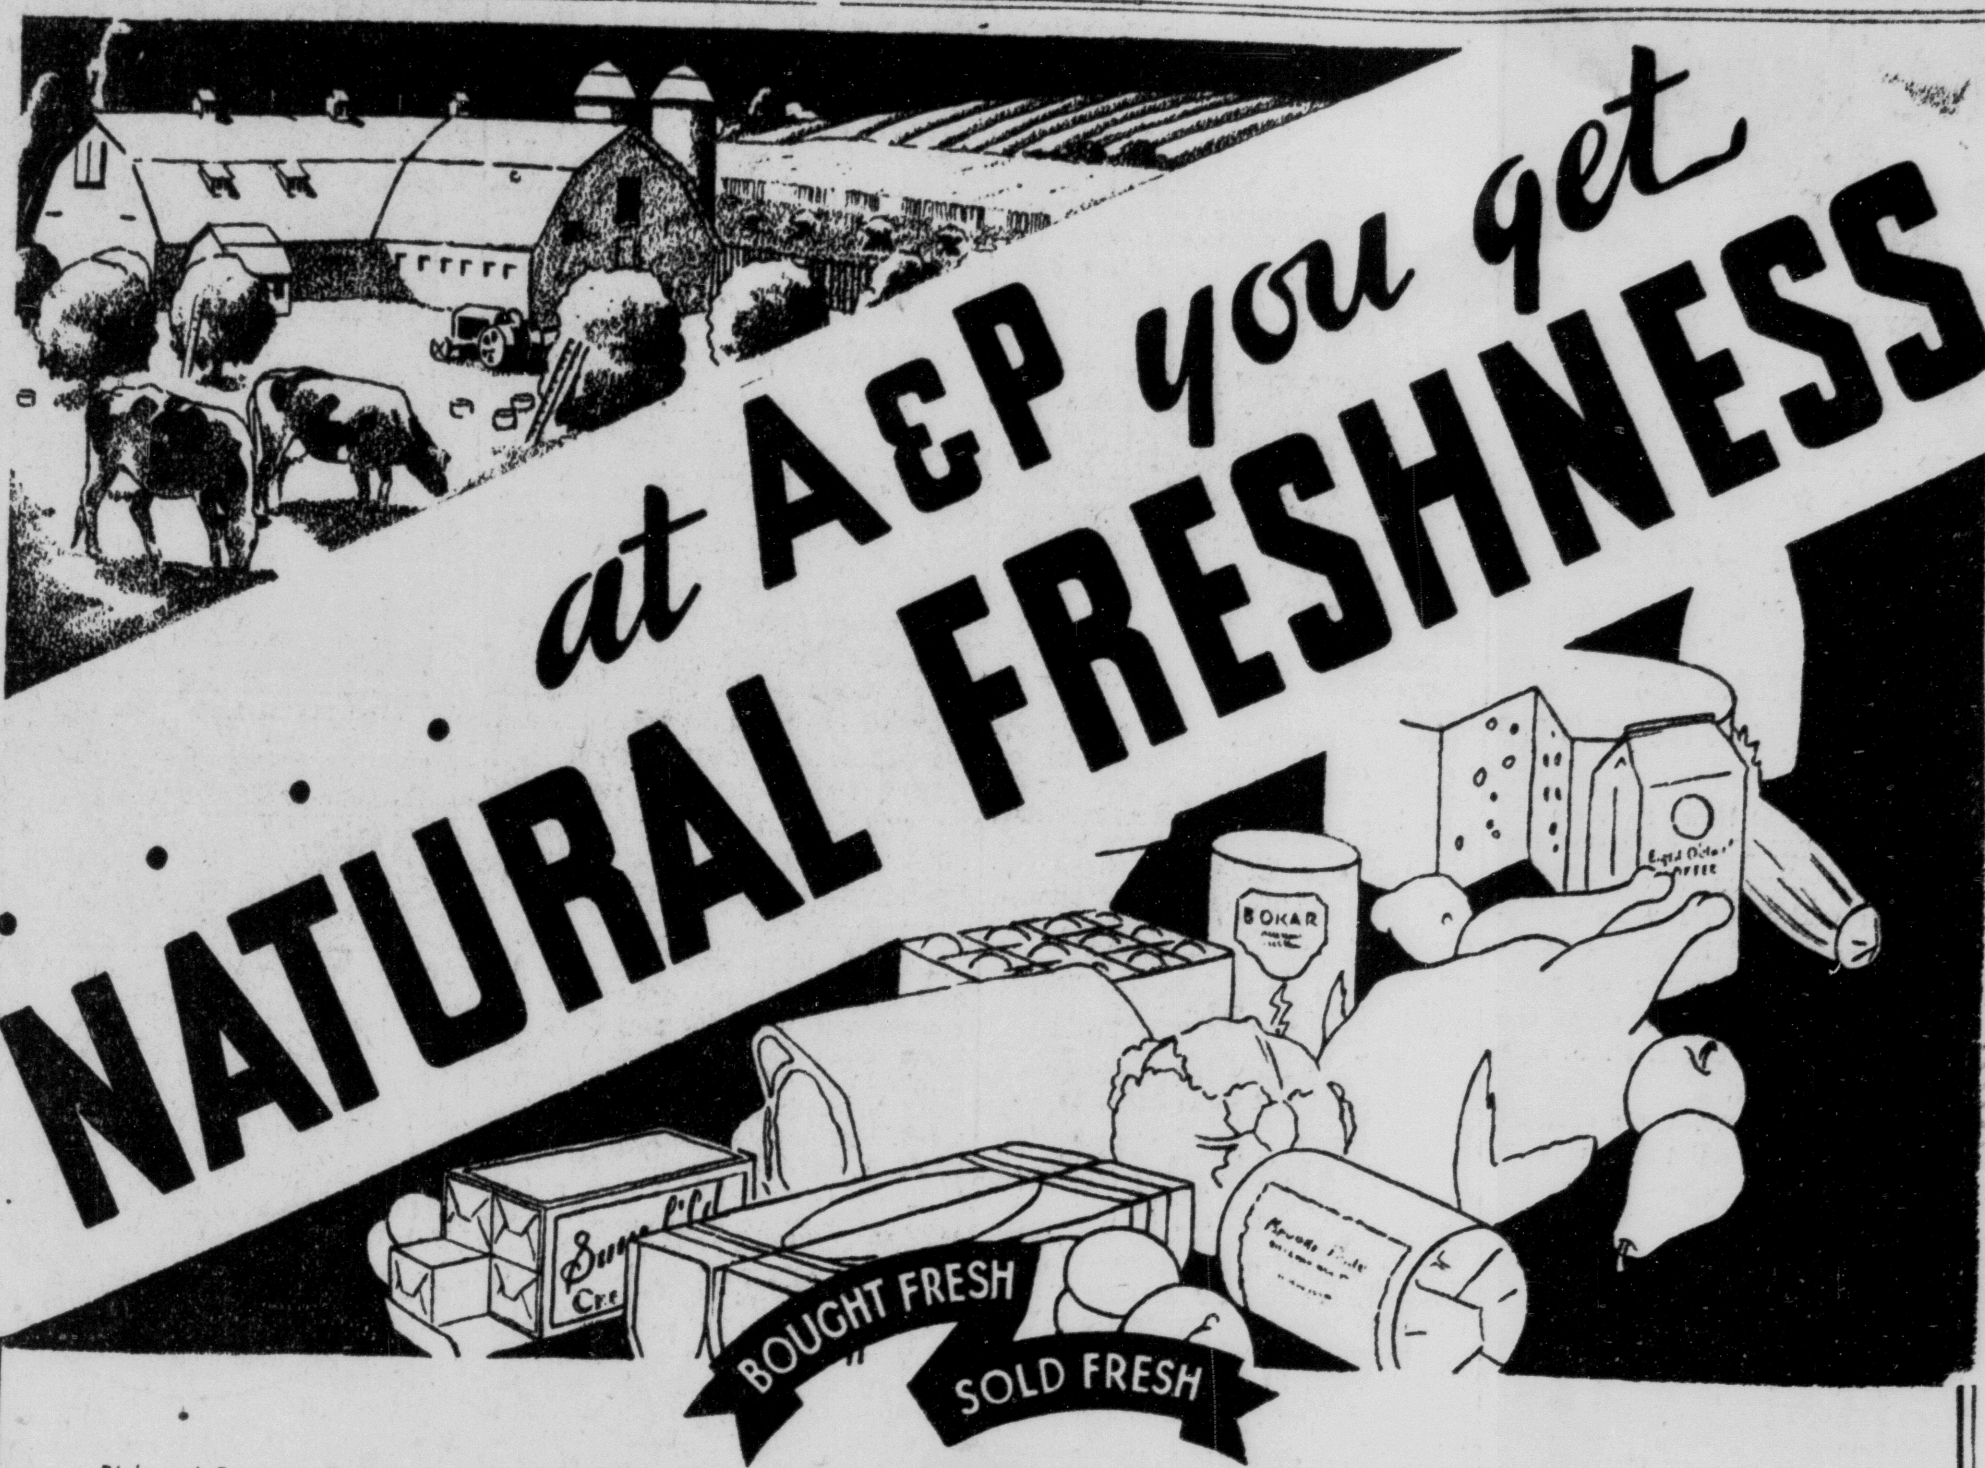

The Lord of Hosts is with us. After republics and empires have passed away, and the earth itself has tasted death, the church of Jesus Christ shall stand forth glorious as an army with banners; free from blemish and every mark of decay, and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it.

The church opens to us the greatest field for service we can find in this world. It offers us, through the Gospel, the only redemption for man's immortal soul. It calls us to deny ourselves and take up our cross and follow Him. Then let us heed the poet's counsel when he says:

Time worketh, let me work too;
Time undoeth, let me do;
Busy as Time my work ply,
Till I rest in the rest of eternity.

Death worketh, let me work too;
Death undoeth, let me do;
Busy as Death my work ply,
Till I rest in the rest of eternity.

And now a bank can get a loan from the R. F. C. merely by telling its scared depositors it is in a bad fix.

URGE ROOSEVELT NOT TO REMOVE MAYOR WALKER

Democrats Bring Pressure To Bear

Powerful Democratic Leaders Endeavor To Intervene For Walker

HEARING THURSDAY HAS ROOSEVELT'S FATE

By RAYMOND I. BORST
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 9.—Powerful Democratic leaders have advised Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt that he will make a serious mistake, both politically and legally, if he removes James J. Walker as mayor of New York on the charges filed by Samuel Seabury, it was revealed today by persons close to the governor.

James A. Farley, chairman of the Democratic national committee and the governor's presidential campaign manager, is reported to have counseled Roosevelt to dismiss the charges.

Farley conferred with the governor last night at the executive mansion but the latter insisted they talk only about campaign plans. The capitol is convinced, however, that the Walker case brought Farley to Albany on a hurried trip.

Against Ouster.

Edward J. Flynn, secretary of state and Democratic leader of the Bronx, also is reported to have advised the governor against the ouster of Mayor Walker.

Flynn has long been one of Roosevelt's most trusted political advisers. He is the only Tammany leader who stood with the governor at the national convention, and he has been selected by Roosevelt to accompany him on his western campaign trip.

The stage is being set for Mayor Walker's appearance before Governor Roosevelt in the executive chamber Thursday afternoon.

Capitol Thrilled.

The prospect of Mayor Walker, idol of Tammany Hall being cross-examined by Governor Roosevelt, Democratic presidential nominee, has thrilled the Capitol more than anything else since former Governor William Sulzer was impeached 20 years ago.

Unless the governor changes his plans at the last minute, Walker will not be permitted to cross examine anyone except Seabury. If Roosevelt should decide to question one or more of the Hofstadter committee witnesses, the mayor will be accorded the same opportunity. It was made plain on behalf of the governor.

Mayor Walker, according to word reaching the capitol, will relish the chance to put Seabury "on the spot" in front of the governor. The mayor is reported to have told friends that he is confident he will be able to prove to the governor that Seabury based his charges on "half truths," and that the charges should be dismissed.

City Wide Revival Begins In September

Dr. P. W. Philpott, Hamilton, Ontario, Will Be The Speaker In Tabernacle

New Castle is to have a city-wide revival in the early fall, beginning the last week in September and continuing through October. A tabernacle, seating between four and five thousand people, is planned at a central point.

The committee on the selection of an evangelist to speak in this city-wide revival included Dr. E. A. Crooks, Rev. G. M. Landis, C. W. Drish, Dr. W. E. McClure, S. R. Huey and T. A. Gilkey, and they selected Dr. P. W. Philpott of Hamilton, Ontario, and the considerations which lead to his selection were: his Christian character is above question; judged by the standards of Christian faith, he is entirely orthodox; he is a preacher of high order and a man who is able to convey his message to all classes of people. He is a man of fine appearance with a clear voice, easily heard.

The compensation for the evangelist is to be an offering taken at the close of the campaign, and it will be voluntary, without the use of any high pressure methods.

The committee hopes to make the Union Evangelistic campaign a united effort of all the churches of the city.

At the union prayer for revival service held Monday evening in the Reformed Presbyterian church, Dr. G. A. Glover from the conference at New Wilmington addressed the group on "Prayer," the attendance was large and his address was most inspirational.

About all that's left of the excitement is the ex.

Young Explorer Suicide Victim

Love Tragedy Is Enacted Before Eyes Of French Actress

VICTIM IS MEMBER OF FRENCH NAVY

By WILLIAM PARKER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Aug. 9.—A love tragedy involving Alice Coccoa, one of France's stage and screen favorites, and a young explorer who committed suicide before her eyes in a canoe in full view of fashionable crowds on the beach, shocked the Cote d'Azur Monday.

The victim was Lieutenant Victor Point, 30, an officer of the French navy and second in command of Georges Madel's recent expedition into the Gobi Desert.

The suicide occurred last night, while hundreds of holiday makers were lounging on the beach or strolling along the promenade at Agay, a favorite spot along the Cote d'Azur.

Mlle. Coccoa, daughter of a Rumanian colonel who was recently divorced from the Duke de La Rochefoucauld, was aboard her small yacht a short distance offshore.

Talked To Actress.

Point set off from the beach in a canoe. He headed toward the yacht, and when he had pulled along side, he stood up and began an earnest conversation with Mlle. Coccoa, who was standing at the rail with a group of friends.

Lieutenant Point suddenly sat down in the canoe and started to paddle back to shore. Half way to the beach, he stood up, and turning about to face the actress, placed a pistol to his head and fired.

The body was not recovered for several hours. When at last it was dragged up on the beach, the actress threw herself upon it, moaning and kissing the white face desperately.

Swick Will Have New Office Rooms

New House Building At Washington To Be Ready For Fall Occupancy

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent Of The New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 9.—When Representative J. Howard Swick comes back to Capitol Hill next session he will have a new office suite in the new house office building or a larger suite in the present structure.

Already the present House Office building is resounding to the noise of hammers and saws cutting doorways through partitions in order to convert the one-room suites into two and three-room groups. The new building, just across the street, will be ready for occupancy by December, and the house members will be distributed between the two buildings, with the more fortunate ones occupying suites in the new structure and the others receiving enlarged suites in the old building.

Just who will move into the new building won't be known until fall. Assignment of the offices has been postponed until then.

Regardless of whether they are placed in the new or the old building, however, the representatives will have the luxury of an office to receive constituents in and a private one in which to work.

Governor Pays Fine Of Woman

Fayette County Woman Released From Jail—Sentenced For Killing Bird

(International News Service)

FAIRCHANCE, Pa., Aug. 9.—The grim spectre of starvation that a week ago faced a destitute family today was supplanted by happiness as well as a sufficient supply of food and clothing.

A happy husband, unemployed for some time, and two lone children, one named with smiles as Mrs. Anna Chess, 36, wife and mother returned to the fireside through the kindness of Governor Gifford Pinchot.

After lingering behind jail bars for four of the 20 days she was imprisoned for killing a song bird, Mrs. Chess went free when Gov. Pinchot wired $17.90 to Fayette county officials to pay her fine and costs.

It was a happy moment when she returned to her home and family although their pleading for her release had been in vain. They brought food and clothing from charitable organizations.

"We never want her to go away again," the family commented. "We just didn't live while she was in jail."

Sermon On Church Given By Pastor

Dr. Walter E. McClure Discusses Origin Of Church And Articles Of Faith

TRUE CHURCH IS THEME OF SERMON

Dr. Walter E. McClure has been delivering a series of sermons on Sunday evenings that attracts auditorium filling congregations to the First Presbyterian church, and Sunday evening he spoke on the theme "The True Church."

He began by asking a few leading questions. Which church should I join? Is it necessary that I join any church? Are some churches better than others? Which church has the greatest influence for good in the community? How much longer will there be a church?

Two Scripture passages were used as texts. Peter speaks in his first epistle about Jesus Christ being the chief corner stone, and those who believe in him as living stones, built into the spiritual structure. Paul writes of those who are a peculiar people zealous of good works.

The true church is not a building made of stone or brick or timber, but it is flesh and blood. Living men and women who go about the city each day, bearing the name of Christ with them, and honoring that name by a walk and conversation that becomes the gospel which they profess.

The New Testament church as we know it today was brought into being on the day of Pentecost, when the Holy Spirit came upon those first disciples, and empowered them for service. They had a new message to proclaim to the world. It was a message concerning the Lord Jesus Christ, how he had come into this world, how he lived and died and rose from the tomb, and ascended up into heaven, how the Holy Spirit had been sent, to be a constant witness to the Christ. With this message the disciples went forth as a witnessing body, and the church had been born.

Dr. McClure set forth 6 articles of faith, which he said were essential to membership in the true church. He did not desire to be sectarian, or narrow, but he must require people to give assent to at least these 6 beliefs, and they are common to all our churches these days. 1—We must believe in God. 2—We must believe the Bible to be God's Word. It is not a question of understanding the Bible. No man is able to understand all the mysteries contained in this heavenly book, but he can believe it to be a message from God. 3—We must believe in Jesus Christ as God's Son, and our Savior, we must believe in Him as he is presented in the gospels.

4—We must believe that the Church is the living witness to God. 5—We must believe in the Holy Spirit as the third person of the Trinity, and the one who today bears witness thru the Church. 6—We must believe in a life that is pure and righteous, a life that is in conformity to the teachings of God's word.

The person who will give assent to these 6 beliefs, is qualified for membership in the body of Christ.

Dr. McClure urged all people to publicly declare their faith in Jesus Christ as Lord and Savior, and join some church. He said he would be glad to welcome any honest believer into the Presbyterian church, but if for good reasons some wished to join other groups of Christian believers, he could only say, go and do what you think is best, and God bless you. He said, we have some 50 preachers in New Castle. They have different views about some of the details of Christian Faith and Conduct, some of them have more friends than others, some of them preach the gospel more effectively than others, some of them have had better educational advantages than others, some of them have stronger congregations back of them than others, but all are earnestly seeking to point people to the Lamb of God who taketh away the sin of the world. Any preacher in New Castle can point you the way to heaven.

The point of the message was that the True Church is not to be found in any one denomination. Where ever you find a group of people believing in Jesus Christ, and worshipping God thru His name, whatever may be their denominational name, they are a part of the Church of the Living God. The tragedy is that with so many groups of Christian believers, with so many organizations pointing men and women to the Christ, there are still such vast numbers entirely unchurched. People who never take the name of the Savior upon their lips except in cursing. People who never read a chapter from God's word, people who never take an hour out of the year for public worship.

Dear Friend Campbell: Am in receipt of an invitation to attend the annual reunion of Old Timers at Cascade Park, Wednesday, August 10th, for which I thank you.

I regret exceedingly that I cannot be present on account of business that will keep me here.

The short, sad story of SUSAN'S STOCKINGS

ON MONDAY—
She bought them

ON TUESDAY—
She wore them

ON WEDNESDAY—
She ruined their elasticity by rubbing with cake soap

ON THURSDAY—
The lifeless threads broke under strain— THEN A RUN

If you wash away elasticity—
don't expect stockings to wear

Don't rub your stockings with cake soap if you want to prevent stocking runs. Wash them the Lux way.

Lux preserves the elasticity of your stockings—the quality that allows the delicate silk threads to give under strain and not break. Clever girls Lux their stockings after every wearing. It takes only 2 minutes and saves them many a dollar. Follow the hints below:

LUX preserves stocking ELASTICITY

And in the dishpan—Lux keeps hands lovely for 1 cent a day!

The LUX Way to make stockings last twice as long

Wash this 2-minute way:

1. One teaspoon of Lux for each pair.
2. Add lukewarm water, squeeze suds through stockings, rinse well.

Don't use too-warm water—this fades color. With Lux you get instant suds in lukewarm water. No hot water needed.

Don't rub with cake soap. It ruins elasticity. With Lux there's no rubbing.

Avoid ordinary soaps—cakes, powders, chips. These often contain harmful alkali, which robs silk of its life, weakens threads, fades colors. Lux has no harmful alkali. Anything safe in water alone is safe in Lux.

Glimpses Of Nature

Trees, The Emeralds Of Mother Nature's Jewel Box
By Owen Penfield Fox

Trees, how beautiful they are, and when their shadows lay across the green grasses of summer, what a charming picture it makes, what loveliness there is in the interlacing tree shadows that fall across an old home where sunny days are nodding their heads in the garden.

Do you appreciate the trees? The Great Creator has given us. There is no lovelier legacy left us than trees, wherein their branches Orioles have sung to their mates since the beginning of time.

It would be well for a nation wide movement of tree planting, starting among individuals, thus causing a better understanding of trees, what more fitting time than the present year, marking the 21st centennial of the Father of this Country our First President George Washington a great lover of trees. At his Mount Vernon home on the historic Potomac there still stands forty or more trees that he himself planted.

Thomas Jefferson the Sage of Monticello, like George Washington also knew the glory of trees. Proof of that is in the fact that on his estate in Virginia all the original Boxwoods are still in existence after the passing of a century.

In Santiago, Cuba, there is a famous tree, where under its spreading branches prisoners were exchanged after the Spanish-American War, among the prisoners were Lieut. Hobson of Merrimack fame.

The poet Longfellow must have been a great lover of trees, for Hiawatha is full of the songs of pines, and the out-doors.

I have an intense fondness for trees, I like to hear the hissing of the leaves in the summer's wind.

Surely anyone that is interested in the things about him could see the magic workings of the yellow birch, as it peels its outer bark, as if many unseen hands were working over-time to help it in its fresh dress.

Through the morning's balmy air I like to wander through the woods to where the basswood tree is in bloom, and watch the bees among the yellow blossoms, gathering the nectar that goes into the making of honey. The basswood tree is famous in poetry in Berlin as (Unter den Linden) meaning the basswood tree. If it were not for trees we would not have the beauty spots we now have. Our gardens that are bordered by trees, the hills, and lowlands would be lacking in gradure without them.

In the spring-time we have many hours of blossomed glory, does this go unappreciated. Do you watch the maples come to life, horse chestnuts, rosebud, or judas tree, and the tulip tree, these trees burst forth heavily laden with blossoms. The red maple has one of the most charming blossoms, and the home that has this tree will enjoy many hours of comfort underneath its spreading branches in the hot days of summer. There is much pride in the possession of the gray birch, that adds a dignified beauty to any lawn, and when fall comes the small leaves dry up, and blow away, like fairies on the wing.

Trees are the one thing that will attract birds to your home. The Scarlet Tanager likes the ash tree. The Oriole has a fondness for the tall elm. Trees are like human beings they like care and protection. The bark of a tree is much like human flesh, and bruises easily. A tree that is bruised should be cleaned and patched with bark then clay should be washed over it, then a good disinfectant used to keep away insects, water and insects are the greatest enemy of trees that are bruised, and after a tree has been treated it should be dressed with something that will stick to the bark and withstand the weather. Cement is good, the kind used by slaters, or white lead mixed with linseed oil. If you have a tree that has a small decayed spot clean it out good and fill with asphaltum, then shape it up so that the bark will grow over it. A sure way to prevent tree decay is to cut all broken limbs off the tree's body, then treat as mentioned.

What a pleasing sight it is to walk by a stone wall where the weeping willows long branches wave, and sweep in the winds and as you watch the tree you will be fascinated by the movements of the slender lacy wands as they drape over bushy shrubs nearby.

Gang Of Bandits Rob Gas Stations At Pittsburgh, Pa.

Police Spread Dragnet For Gang Of Bandits Who Get $1,000 In Cash In Holdup

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Aug. 9.—Police spread a dragnet about this section today for a gang of bandits who during the night escaped with a safe containing $1,000 at one of three gasoline service stations they held up.

While making away with the money and safe, the robbers gagged and bound two employees to the station fixtures. At the other two stations the attendants were kidnapped and later freed.

When discovered by passing motorists, the attendants said their assailants were four armed men.

Lay Minister Is Victim Of Attack

Said That He Suspected His Assailant Of Boot-legging

SLIPPERY ROCK, Pa., Aug. 9.—Tony Angelo of Harrisville is in the Butler county jail today, and Thomas C. Henderson of that place, a lay minister, is suffering severely from a beating he told the authorities Angelo administered to him last night. Angelo is charged with aggravated assault and battery, on a complaint preferred by Henderson. Henderson, according to the authorities, had long suspected Angelo of bootlegging and Angelo at the same time suspected Henderson of spying upon him in an effort to get evidence on which he could base a liquor violation charge.

The lay minister was passing along the street last night he told the authorities, when he was waylaid by Angelo, who had been lying in ambush. According to Henderson Angelo struck him several times over the head and shoulders with a club, but the victim of the alleged attack was not rendered unconscious by the blows, nor did an examination reveal the presence of any fractures, although the actual extent of Henderson's injuries have not yet been ascertained.

Mrs. T. W. Phillips Is Critically Ill

Mrs. T. W. Phillips, Highland avenue, one of the best known elderly residents of the city, is critically ill in her home.

Mrs. Phillips has not been in the best of health for the past two years, since she had her hip broken in a fall, although she had recovered from that sufficiently to be around, although her activities were somewhat curtailed.

The report from her bedside this morning was to the effect that her condition was not changed much from the past few days, but is critical.

Still, Mr. Roosevelt, you mustn't forget everybody except the forgotten man.

"Babe" Didrikson Accepts Her Fate At Judges' Hands

Olympic Field Judges Refuse To Allow World Record Jump By Texas Girl

CLAIM STYLE OF JUMPING ILLEGAL

An Interview With Mildred ("Babe") Didrikson.

By FRANK G. MENKE
International News Service Sports Editor.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 9.—For the first time since I've been in athletics I am a bit mixed up and that is all because some of the judges at the Olympiad suddenly made up their minds that the "Texas roll" that I do over the high jumps was a sort of high dive, or maybe a low dive, and they disqualified me after I went higher than any girl ever went before.

Is Disqualified.

They disqualified me and that made Miss Jean Shiley of Philadelphia win, and that is okay because she is a heck of a fine girl and she certainly deserves a first place for the way she was jumping, but where I am all twisted is how did the judges come to make two rulings against me on two different jumps in which I hit 5 feet 6 inches?

The first time I went over clean and landed on the ground. I never wiggled the bar. But, as I lit on the ground, one of my legs popped out from under me and it kicked against a post and that jarred the post and the jarring post caused the bar to fall.

The way I look at it, from what I know of the rules, that was a clean jump and it should have been credited to me because the bar did not fall due to any blunder on my part when clearing it, but the judges saw it a different way and they would not allow the jump and they told me to try again.

Clears Bar.

So I tried it again and I cleared it and then they said that I was diving over, instead of clearing it with head and body at the same time, although that is exactly the way I had been using my "Texas roll" all afternoon and they never said anything until I cleared what seemed to be 5 feet 6 inches for the second time.

There was nothing for me to do about it except to say okay, gentlemen. When I first tried high jumping in Beaumont was taught what is called the "Texas roll." That calls for a fast approach to the bar and then a lunge, and a lift, and from the way I regard it, the jump is okay and is not a dive because I think I clear the bar with head and body at the same time. Nobody ever accused me of using an illegal method in jumping before.

Cardinals Not Out Of Picture

Cards Gain Two Games By Beating Phillies, Indians Drop To Senators

JOHNNY BURNETT GET FOUR HITS

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—The St. Louis Cardinals cannot be counted out of the National League race as long as the Phillies and Reds are around and waiting to be stepped on by the champions.

Phil and 39 out of 44 from Cincinnati.

This year St. Louis enjoys a winning margin against only two clubs, the Phils and Reds. They have topped 13 out of 19 from the Reds, not a remarkable feat—but the Phils, now strong pennant contenders, have been able to win only four out of 13 games from the slipping Cards.

Indians Lose

The champions played Sengall with the Quakers yesterday, winning both ends of a twin bill, 7 to 6 and 6 to 4.

Johnny Burnett of Cleveland got four hits against Washington, but his two errors paved the way for all of the runs scored by the Senators, who won, 7 to 6.

Other teams were idle.

Batting Gizzy Winner In Bout

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 9.—Strengthened in confidence due to his being awarded a unanimous decision over Chico Cisneros, Mexican, of Erie, in his 10-round bout here last night, Batting Gizzy today settled down to training in earnest for his fight with Charley Baxter, ruler of local lightweights, carded for next week.

Last night's fracas proved an end-less exhibition of blatant antagonism, which found the Donora battler continually wading into Cisneros in his peculiar wild-swinging fashion.

Ray Ritchie To Box At Cleveland

Ray Ritchie, local bantamweight in the stable of Robert Latera is training hard for his six round bout with Jimmy Vaughn at Cleveland, Friday night. He boxes daily six rounds with Johnny Devlin.

Charley Grimm Real Manager

Chicago Cubs Will Play Heads Off For New Manager Who Succeeds Hornsby

PLAYERS ARE NOW ALLOWED TO THINK

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—One week ago a man by the name of Hornsby sat grimly in the dugout and willed nine men to do his bidding. The man succeeded, the men didn't. In fact, it looked for a time as though they couldn't beat anybody with a horse whip. In the same way, the surgical operation is successful, only sometimes the patient is unreasonable and does not live.

Today, the liberated puppets of the Chicago ball club have thrown off the manacles and are free. They have cut 4½ games into the Pirates' lead. They have declared a legal holiday on master-minding. They have made 70 hits, no less, in the first five games without their celebrated Sengall of the dugouts and his Tribby, the young Mr. Warneke. Was noticeably nonplussed by the master's absence. All he could do was to beat the Giants with five hits.

The answer? I asked Mr. Charley Grimm, the six-day-old manager, about that this morning and he says there isn't any.

Gives Out Law.

"I told them to be themselves again," said he, simply. "We had a meeting in Philadelphia when I took over the club last week and I told them they were all ball players, some of them better ball players than I was, and that all I asked was that they play ball with me and for me."

"This is not intended as a criticism of Hornsby, but a pitcher ought to know enough to pitch his own game and the hitter usually is better off without undue interference. Of course, when an unusual situation arises, I give the hitter a sign. Otherwise, why should I bother a man who has enough on his mind up there, anyhow? In this way, I feel I have given them the freedom of action they need and, in return I'm getting the good will of every man in the ball club."

Will Forgive Hemsley.

This, it seems, even goes for Ralston Hemsley, the young catcher, who went forth the other evening, seeking the atmosphere in Audubon, N. J., and is now at his home, seeking forgiveness. His isn't a particularly meritorious case, for they say Hornsby fined him in the training camp on Catalina Island and that, less than two hours before the episode of last week, Hemsley and Grimm reached what was then supposed to have been an understanding. Yet he thinks the young man has another chance coming to him.

"However," said Mr. Grimm, meaningly, "no man is going to put me on the spot. I plan to be easy, but no sap. In this way, I think we'll all get along nicely and the first thing we know we're liable to win the pennant."

Clifton Flats Trims Volant

Market Absorbs Heavy Profit Taking And Continues Up-Swing

A. T. AND T. IS
'BULL' LEADER

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—The stock market today was forced to absorb the heaviest profit-taking since the current recovery got underway. Trading was still fast but at a lower pace than the wild trading of the last two days. Turnover was at the rate of better than 4,000,000 shares for the day.

American Telephone was the bull leader, being whirled up more than 2 points after an early sinking spell. Allied Chemical did as well. U. S. Steel common and preferred ran into heavy profit-taking but met support and came back to small gains.

Low-priced rails were in demand and worked higher. The higher priced carriers like Atchafalaya and Union Pacific were forced to absorb considerable realizing. Food shares were strong while the oils were sluggish. Utilities were firm.

Case Threshing ignored the sinking spell in wheat and snapped a couple of points.

Commodities and bonds also were under the influence of profit-taking but showed rallying tendencies after an early drop.

Stock Ticker Gallery Grows
As Tape Figures Soar Again

With the pulse-beat of the New York Stock Exchange booming healthier than ever, steadily ticking out a story that most everyone feels is a sure forecaster of economic recovery, the whirl of excitement in the city's own stock exchange center increases daily.

Hidden From Many. Out of sight from the average person, the upstairs hall in the Union Trust Co. building into which the stock quotations come, hides a band of humanity whose eyes are fastened on the magnified white ticker marks that lately have started to soar.

Businessmen, doctors, lawyers, truck drivers, steel hoisters and all watch the same reflector sign, for the story it tells is the same for all who show interest in stocks.

Playgrounds Ready
For Annual Track
And Field Meet

Big Event To Be Staged Wednesday Morning And Afternoon At Lincoln Field

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 9.—All the children in the city playgrounds in Ellwood are tuned up to the highest degree of excitement possible today as they anxiously await the starting whistle for the annual inter-playground field and track meet to be staged at Lincoln field Wednesday morning and afternoon.

The teams to represent the various playgrounds have already been selected by the instructors there and will wind up training this afternoon. The program for the day has been carefully mapped out by Mrs. Ray Wilson, supervisor, and her assistants. According to some of the plans revealed today, much confusion and friction that has been evident at every affair of this type, will be eliminated tomorrow.

The annual affair will be run off as the swimming meet was, according to age groups. There will be events for children under 12 years of age, 12 to 14, and 14 to 17. This arrangement has a tendency to even up competition. All children who plan to participate in the meet are required to fill out blanks as in the swimming meet, signing their names, age, playground and the events they desire to enter. This will enable those in charge of the meet to formulate their plans accordingly. These blanks must be turned in by Wednesday noon. Only those that have signed them will be eligible to enter.

The events in the meet are as follows: 50-yard dash for those 12 and under (afternoon 1:30). 100-yard dash—Open. 200-yard dash—Open. 440-yard dash—Open. 880-yard dash—Open. High jump, broad jump. 120-yard high hurdles—Open. Shot put—Open (morning). Discus—Open (morning).

Plans for a girls' meet are incomplete as yet. All will depend upon their turnout Wednesday afternoon. There will be several dashes, potato race and baseball throw.

The Lincoln field will be marked off for the event and efforts will be made to keep the big crowd off the place of competition. Ropes will be used in keeping the people off the field. Several of the older boys will be acting as policemen during the affair. The meet will be run off in the best possible order.

Reason for so much excitement among the playgrounds is that nearly all of them have an equal chance of coping the playground banner which is awarded at the end of the season. The meet, so far matters are pretty well deadlocked. Lincoln playground has won the senior midget title when they defeated Shelby. West End has the junior midget title when they defeated Lincoln. North Side has the volleyball and horseshoe championships. And Shelby has the swimming title. The contest at present lies between Shelby and West End and will be decided this morning. Shelby has the best showing in the annual playground tests which a large number took and passed. This gives them an additional point advantage for the banner. Everything depends upon the track and field meet Wednesday before the title can be awarded.

An exhibition of the work being done in the local playgrounds is being given in the windows of the Yahn-Jones Hardware company this week. There are some fine baskets, rugs, belts, dishes and various other articles on exhibition.

White House Dogs, And Two Officials Encounter "Bees"

(International News Service)
LURAY, Va., Aug. 9.—Even the depression failed to lessen the robustness of the laugh that President Hoover carried away from Camp Rapidan Monday morning.

Lawrence Richey, his secretary of long standing, and Captain Joel T. Boone, the white house physician, were butts of the situation that kept the executive and all his guests rocking with laughter over the week end.

As has been the practice of various week ends during the past summer, Mr. and Mrs. Hoover took their two dogs along with them for the Saturday-Monday respite in the Blue Ridge Mountains.

Pat, the big German shepherd, and Weeje, the Norwegian Elk hound, were playing Sunday morning in front of the "town hall," as the large central recreation building of the Hoover camp is called. They darted into a clump of laurel near the entrance.

Swarm Of Bees
Suddenly the camp party was startled by piercing yelps and Pat dashed madly out of the underbrush and up the road, his tail between his legs. A split second behind him was Weeje.

Richey and Dr. Boone, being true men of the hour, rushed to the scene of the precipitant evacuation, thinking they would encounter, perhaps, a rattlesnake.

Just which one of the intertidal explorers reached the scene first was still a matter of conjecture today, so closely together did they enter the bush.

Richey and Dr. Boone promptly changed their tactics and joined the general retreat that Pat and Weeje had started. Although the dogs had a good start, it was reported that the two white house aides closed in strong at the finish.

"What happens," asked President Hoover, after the pair finally made their way back to camp, "when a bee sits down and pushes."

Walker Planning Counter Attack

Mayor Walker Will Ask Governor For Right To Question Samuel Seabury

FIREWORKS ARE NOW LOOKED FOR

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Heralding the type of fighting which most likely will develop when Mayor James J. Walker faced the removal charge hearing before Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt in Albany next Thursday, the mayor today made public his counter-attack to his political assailants.

In the sur-rebuttal to Samuel Seabury, counsel of the Hofstadter legislative committee and filer of charges against him, Walker demanded the governor hold a "real trial" into the accusations rather than a hearing.

He maintained his right to cross-examine witnesses at the trial, as well as his major accusers, and to produce witnesses in his own behalf. If Governor Roosevelt upholds the mayor's demands, fire-works are expected when the Mayor cross-examines Seabury, who conducted the questioning when Walker was on the stand at the committee hearings.

28th Division Men Return Home

Second Annual Reunion Of World War Outfit Is Held At Mt. Gretna

After spending two days at Mt. Gretna, where they met in reunion with their former comrades of the World War, ten members of the Kahle-Ashton Post, Society of the 28th Division, A. E. F. returned home yesterday.

This was the second annual gathering of the men from the Keystone division, who saw some of the hardest fighting during the late war. Many a desperate battle was recounted as the men looked back on that grim encounter, but the hand of time has softened the memories of the dangers they went through.

For two days, the men lived in the old National Guard training camp as they had in the pre-war days, only there was no blaring bugle to call them to unwilling duty, and mess call was the only call that was answered.
